PART IV.

THE COUNTRY SQUIRE's Return to his HABITATION:

The Night approaches;—the Dews deſcend;—the Moon breaks out from beneath the duſky Clouds;—and Nature retires to reſt.

THE ſhadows lengthen with the ſetting ſun, and the weſtern clouds here deck'd in purple, and there edged with gold, ſpeak ſober evening near, now